- Age and temperament – Younger birds are playful, while older ones may be calmer.
- Color variations – Budgies come in blue, green, gold, and many mixed colors.
- Health status – Inspect feathers, eyes, and beak for signs of illness.

Adopting from a reputable breeder or rescue ensures a healthy start.

Cage Setup and Environment

Size Matters

Provide a spacious cage: at least 18 inches long, 12 inches wide, and 18 inches tall. A larger cage encourages flight and reduces stress.

Perches and Accessories

- Variety of wooden perches (rough and smooth) to maintain foot health.
- Hanging toys and mirrors for mental stimulation.
- Water bottle and shallow dish for fresh water.

Lighting and Temperature

Natural daylight or a 10-12 hour light cycle is ideal. Keep the room temperature between 65–80°F (18–27°C) and avoid drafts.

Dietary Essentials

Seed Mix

Offer a balanced seed mix—cereals, millet, and sunflower seeds. Avoid high-fat seeds like pumpkin or nut mixes.

Pellets

High-quality pellets provide essential vitamins and minerals. Replace the mix weekly.

Fresh Fruits and Vegetables

- Apples, carrots, spinach, and broccoli.
- Remove seeds from fruit before feeding.

Water

Change the water daily and use clean, filtered water.

Exercise & Enrichment

Budgies need daily activity outside the cage. Provide a safe, bird-proofed area for supervised play. Rotate toys regularly to prevent boredom.

Health & Hygiene

Regular Cleaning

Clean the cage at least once a week: remove droppings, replace bedding, and wash perches and toys.

Health Checks

Observe for feather loss, swelling, or changes in appetite. Schedule an annual vet visit for a full checkup.

Vaccinations & Parasite Control

Discuss vaccinations and parasite prevention with your avian vet.
